A Woman's Triumph, from Sir Walter Scott's Great Story, The Heart of Midlothian, Four Reel Feature To-

A Woman's Triumph, the four part feature which heads the bill at the Davis today, is one of the most remarkable photoplays ever exhibited. The story is taken from Sir Walter Scott's great work. The Heart of Midlothian, and tells of the courage of a woman who would not tell a lie, even to save her sister but who triumphed in the end. Sir Walter-Scott, the great Scottish writer, never wrote anything that could equal this story and the splendid acting of the Famous Players company combined with the quaint Scotth scenery and costumes makes a feature that is everything that can be desired. Today will be the last chance to see this beautiful picture and those who enjoy the best in photoplays should not miss this opportunity. The balance of the bill consists of Mutual movies, including Our Mutual Girl, who introduces some new styles in movies, including Our Mutual Girl, who introduces some new styles in summer hats and bathing suits. Love and Salt Water is one of those funny Keystone comedies that cannot be imitated. A Gent for a Day is a Thanhouser comedy drama with a lot of clever juvenile actors playing the leading parts. Messrs. Boyle and Craig have one of the best concert programmes that has been heard this season. Both solo and duet numbers are well chosen and are a pleasing ad-are well chosen and are a pleasing ad-dition to the photoplays.

For the first half of next week the management has secured the Million Dollar Mystery for three days instead of one, as the interest in this wonderful picture has grown so much since the first one was shown that to give everyone a chance to see it one day was not enough. In this third install-ment the situations are more thrilling and exciting. Follow it closely and win the $10,000 prize. COLONIAL THEATRE.

Her Big Scoop, Two Reel Feature with Maurice Costello.

For today only the Colonial theatre will show the remarkable film-drama entitled Her Big Scoop, a very strong motion picture sensation in two reels, featuring Maurice Costello. It is a story of a young girl who tries to secure a situation on a big newspaper as reporter, but is rejected. Costello, as editor of a new paper, listens to a story of a plot she overheard to rob a bank, and arranging with the police, capture the robbers, and also the big scoop. Costello never appeared to cop. Costello never appeared to advantage than in this big feabetter advantage than in this big feature. Another two reel sensation for today is entitled The Stolen Rembrandt and produced by the Kalem cast, headed by the fearless William Brunton, and pretty Helen Holmes. It is a snappy story filled to the limit with thrills, and interest. Comedies for today are Romeo and Juliet, and Percy, the Lady Killer.

AT THE AUDITORIUM

The Artois Brothers are making uite a hit here the last half of the week in their sensational acrobatic nevelty in which they perform many hair-raising stunts, Marcus and Whittle have a pleasing offering in their plane and singing specialty and Dick Mack, the king of banjoists, is playing his way into popular favor at every performance. The popular Lucille, Love series is showing here again today and this is the thirteenth installment with only two more to follow reek in their sensational acrobation ment with only two more to follow to complete the story. Lucille is seen today in San Francisco, having many trying experiences, the hardest of which, perhaps, is a terrible automo-bile wreck which is vividly depicted on the screen. The Animated Weekly is on the bill again today and also a very funny comedy reel entitled The Mag-nets, by the Joker company. The vaudeville program for Monday will be headed by an imported European acrobatic and heavy lifting and juggling novelty presented by the Three Kins-Ners. Hi-Si and Mary, a very funny rube act, and Harry McGovern, a rathskeller singer, will complete the vaudeville bill.

POETRY

He deem't care that I'm not rich for that I'm poorly dressed.
That I'm a toller in the ditch He hasn't even guessed.
My faults that other people know He doesn't even see, Far avery night, with eyes aglow, He toddles up to me.

Although I'm just a common man And ordinary clay. His check to mine he's glad to rub Before I go away. And every flight when I return He's glad as he can be. And though but little I may earn, He toddles up to me.

To come to me he'd leave a king
if one were sitting near.
Unto no millionaire he'd cling if only I'd appear.
And, though but tattered rags are mine.
When I get home to tea,
With eyes that fairly beam and shine.
He toddles up to me.

"I'm selling a book on beauty, mum," he began, "but really I fear you do not need guch an article," "Never mind," said the lady, with a pleased smile. "Latake one anyhow."—Louisville Courie"-
